THEY'RE BACK! — The eastern tent caterpillars are back. The defoliation they cause to fruit trees is considered more of a nuisance than an economic threat.

Tent Caterpillars Return In Large Numbers Again

A high population of the eastern tent caterpillar is expected for this year according to Kathie Arney, DNR Asst. Forest Manager. The insects hatch in late April from eggs laid on branches of wild and cultivated fruit trees. It is not usually an economic problem, however this pest often can become a nuisance.

Removing the eggs from small trees in fall or early spring is very effective. These insects spin a silken nest in the crotches of small trees and become quite obvious in infested

Number of Years For Tax Abatement Only Question Left

By Irene Pettyjohn

Georgia-Pacific has already qualified for a 50-percent tax abatement on its proposed formaldehyde plant. The only decision left for Beaver Creek Twp. is how many years to grant the tax abatement, one to twelve years.

Most of the 27 people attending a public hearing Thursday, May 11, at the Beaver Creek Twp. Hall had come to argue for or against granting the abatement. Instead the group found out that Georgia-Pacific had already qualified for the tax abatement. Gary Nelson, a tax abatement specialist with the Mich. Dept. of Commerce, said that once a township establishes an industrial development district, manufacturing firms that locate within the district automatically qualify for a tax abatement if certain requirements are met. The only decision left for the township to make is how long the abatement will last, from one to twelve years.

Nelson said that there are only a few legitimate reasons for denying an abatement application.

"You can not refuse an abatement because you do not like a certain company," said Nelson. "Nor can you refuse an application because the company doesn't need the abatement."

HOW LONG

"If we must, according to state law, give them an abatement, let's do so for one year. This is a company that can well afford to pay their share," said Marilyn Rosi.

Rosi said that, according to Shearson Lehman Hutton, Georgia-Pacific has enjoyed record earnings and its highest return on equity in more than a decade.

Linda Caswell, president of AuSable Conservation Trust (ACT), a group opposing the proposed formaldehyde plant, asked Nelson about Georgia-Pacific's offer of $50,000 a year for three years for the schools.

Nelson said the offer sounded very generous to him, and that he had heard of similar arrangements between governing units and businesses. He said the state neither encourages nor discourages such arrangements.

"Maybe if the offer did not carry the stipulations that the money would be given if the abatement is approved for 12 years, and if school finance reform does not become a fact," Caswell said, "it would not seem so much like Georgia-Pacific was trying to buy the abatement." She said in her opinion, the abatement should be granted on its own merit.

A Georgia-Pacific attorney said the $150,000 donation is a method to modify the abatement that is

3rd Time is Charm For Hanson Hills

A 1/4 mill renewal for Hanson Hills passed on the third ballot try by a vote of 1043 yes to 466 no in the special election Tuesday, May 16, in Crawford County.

The millage renewal passed 681-159 in Grayling Twp., 176-40 in the city of Grayling, and the proposal was defeated 59-23 in South Branch, 61-34 in Lovells, 53-43 in Beaver Creek, 68-61 in Frederic, and 26-25 in Maple Forest.

Voters approved the 1/4 mill through 1995 when the current lease for the land with the military is up for renewal.

The 1/4 mill is expected to bring in about $48,000 a year to help operate the year-round facility.

The millage renewal was defeated twice in 1988.

OPPOSITION PETITION

Caswell read a letter from ACT and 177 people who have supported ACT by petition, stating their opposition to the abatement, and requesting formal intervention in the abatement proceedings, "both here and in any review by the State Tax Commission, or any judicial review."

John Hartman, Beaver Creek Twp. Supervisor, said that he would review the Environmental Protection Act law that Caswell's letter mentioned, and that action would not be taken until compliance was assured.

Letters were also read from Jan Reynolds, of Grayling, opposing the abatement, the Crawford County Board of Commissioners, opposing the abatement, and the Crawford AuSable School District Board of Education who did not express an opinion in support or in opposition. The Beaver Creek board said they had also received a telephone call from the C.O.O.R. Intermediate School District and they also took no stand on the abatement.

Gary Summers said he was surprised the school board did not take a position against the abatement since they need the additional revenue.

John Hartman said, in his opinion, the schools were avoiding the heat of the issue and leaving the decision to Beaver Creek.

Terry McGregor, twp. treasurer, said the schools response was disappointing to the board, because the schools receive 2/3 of the tax revenues.

ABATEMENT IMPORTANT

In answer to the question of what would Georgia-Pacific do if the abatement was denied or cut in length, Joseph Newman, manager of the Beaver Creek resin plant, explained that Georgia-Pacific is in the business to make profits. When management looks at an investment, Newman said, it considers the return on investment.

"If the abatement is reduced, that makes the payback on the plant less, that makes the return on investment worse, and if we are in a competitive situation, that makes us less competitive," Newman stated.

"I am not going to say that we will not build the formaldehyde plant without the full abatement," he said, "but it does make us less competitive and reduces our chances of getting the money for expansion from the company."

500-ACRE DISTRICT

The second surprise of the evening came when it was learned that Beaver Creek's Industrial Development District, established in 1980 by the township board, consists of Weyerhaeuser's nearly 500 acres, and Weyerhaeuser can determine what industry will be allowed into the district.

"We (the Beaver Creek Twp. board) did not have anything to say about whether Weyerhaeuser sold to Georgia-Pacific or not," said McGregor. "Weyerhaeuser owns the acreage, it can sell it to whomever it wants, and once the new corporation is in the district, we again have no choice but to agree to the abatement," she said.

"This comes as a surprise to some of us who were around when Weyerhaeuser came in," said Art Rosenau. "It appears that we were very naive and unexperienced in these matters, and got hoodwinked."

Nelson suggested that when establishing future districts only establish it for the property the plant will occupy.

"Remember," he said, "by limiting the number of years an abatement is in effect, you still have control over the industries in the district."

Vicki Kimball asked Nelson if it was possible to discourage certain industries, like chemical plants by severely limiting tax abatements, and yet still send the message that the community is interested in industrial growth.

Nelson said it would help if the community could get that message to the right people in the state. He said most business people do not want the hassle of locating where they are not wanted.

Ernest Mack, of Beaver Creek Twp., suggested that since Georgia-Pacific only offered to give to the schools for three years that the abatement be limited to three years.

"If they want an abatement for 10 to 12 years let them donate to the schools for 10 to 12 years," Mack said. "We are growing all the time and we need the support for our schools."

Hartman said his office would be contacting Ross Bishop, of the Attorney General's office, to learn exactly how much time the Beaver Creek Twp. Board has to make the abatement decision. A special township board meeting would be called, if a decision is required before June 12th, which is the board's next regular meeting.

Tent Caterpillars

areas when the larger caterpillars begin to migrate to spin cocoons. This is the time most people decide to control the pests. Unfortunately, this is the time control is least effective.

Proper safe control of these pests is easy and fairly inexpensive although timing is crucial, says Arney. Small caterpillars (less than 1/2 inch) are most vulnerable. It is also important to note that it is most appropriate to schedule an insecticide treatment before the insects cause damage. The best time for this is usually in the early half of May but depends largely on weather. Spraying larger larvae after they have caused defoliation amounts to merely revenge and is unwarranted, says Arney.

Several insecticide formulations are registered by the EPA for tent caterpillars. Two products that are highly recommended are B.t. and insecticidal soap. B.t. is a bacterial insecticide that only affects caterpillars. Beneficial insects remain unharmed. The timing of B.t. spraying is critical. The spray must be aimed at the leaves. The caterpillars must eat the treated leaves in order to die. This will take several days. This is why it is important to spray before the foliage is out fully.

Insecticidal soap is also very effective on young eastern tent caterpillars while they are in their tents. It is also effective on the insects while the caterpillars are swarming. It is important to note that insecticidal soaps must be sprayed directly on the target insect. Be sure to follow label instructions while using any insecticides.

The insects feed mainly on cherry trees but will eat leaves from apple and other fruit trees. Most cherry trees can be completely defoliated by the insect without harm. The tree will bounce back the next year with complete foliage.

Republican Committee Asks Bush's Support

Dear President Bush, It is our belief that the Constitution, including the Second Amendment, is designed to guarantee the free exercise of the individual rights of the individual through strictly limiting the power of government.

We reaffirm our belief in the Declaration of Independence, and in particular the belief that our inherent rights are endowed by the Creator. The Second Amendment liberties, like the others can remain secure only if government is so limited that it cannot infringe upon those rights.

It is our responsibility, whenever the inherent rights of individual sovereignty are threatened from within or without, to join together to protect these rights.

We therefore ask that you take a leadership role in our government to keep our Nation and our State within the framework of the Constitution. We ask that you stand fast against the threat of the Metzenbaum/Stark, the Metzenbaum/Feighan/Brady, the Berman, and any other bills that conflict with the traditions of the Second Amendment or of the American political system.

By unanimous vote we ask your support. Joseph Callewaert Crawford Republican Committee

Who's watching the folks who are supposed to be watching us?

Did you catch the news last week about the missing state troopers? It seems a law was passed in 1987 adding $5 to traffic tickets to pay for hiring 120 additional state troopers. By May of 1989, however, only nine extra state troopers were aboard.

Someone screwed up. But in classic bureaucratic double-talk, no one would take the blame.

In a Detroit News article State Police Director Col. Ritchie Davis said that when the current state police class graduates in August, 211 new troopers will have been added since Dec. 11, 1987, but their numbers are offset by retirements of troopers.

Tom Scott, a spokesman for Governor Blanchard said the governor's office isn't sure of the actual number of troopers gained since 1987. "It's somewhere between nine and 100," said Scott.

The higher price on traffic tickets has generated only $4.5 million a year, not the original estimate of $6 million a year. And Davis said "It's not a question of the money being misspent. It's simply attrition."

Okay, so the higher fines didn't generate $6 million. That means instead of 120 extra troopers being hired, about 90 should have hired -- not just 9.

Col. Davis, if this isn't a case of money being misspent, what is?

If the state police can't keep track of many troopers its supposed to have, who should be keeping track? And if the state police can't follow the law, who will?

Boy Scouts Need Trailer for Recycling

Dear Editor:

I am writing for Boy Scouts in Grayling. As many of you know we have been doing recycling of old newspapers and cardboard for over 20 years. Personally I have been involved for about 15 years.

We recently sold a load of papers to a company in Traverse City, they were shipped over in a trailer belonging to the Crawford-Otsego Landfill Authority and not to the Boy Scouts. The man from Traverse City called and asked me what was going on. This is the only way I knew about it. After his call I have been trying to reach Mr. Miller and he will not answer our calls. Someone who I talked to in the Landfill office confirmed everything and stated that they were short trailers and needed this one for their use and did not think that they had one for us to use.

If we lose this trailer we will have to close down our recycling efforts. We don't want to do this, as it is the major funding for the Boy Scouts. Our scouts collect almost 150 tons of paper a year and that is a lot of landfill space. Because of the paper drive we are able to send scouts to summer camp for a week, and a weekend a month with very little or no charge. This summer we are planning a nine day trip to Washington, D.C. and visit the National Jamboree, however this may change our plans. Help us keep recycling in Grayling and our Scouting program strong.

Loren J. Goodale, III Scoutmaster Troop 979

I went to the Vietnam Memorial Wall today and my life will never be the same. The names I read were of great sacrifice. I can't even begin to describe the emotions and feelings of all those who passed and read the names and mementoes left at their feet. The letters from mothers, fathers, loved ones, and children who never had the privilege to know their fathers. The young faces in the pictures smiling out to us, never to smile again. The most touching were the letters from buddies who served with them.

So when I keep hearing the old complaints about our training of the National Guards I must speak out. My oldest brother served in the Korean conflict. Another brother served two tours in Vietnam. They came home but their sacrifice was great. My son who serves in the U.S. Army has served in Honduras and is currently finishing up his tour in Korea, to return to the states in late summer.

Our Guards are being trained to be there for our Armed Forces and us when needed. As a mother and an American I want that training to be the best available. The more intense the safer the country. The vibration of the ground, the overhead noise of planes and helicopters, the convoys, loss of a tree, and the disruption of our environment is such a small sacrifice. The old complaints are a small sacrifice compared to the pair of old boots I saw at the wall, representing the large sacrifice. I went to the wall and my life will never be the same.

Let's pray the country will never have to sacrifice so greatly, and that the small sacrifices mentioned above will be all we give up for our freedom.

Go visit the wall and read the more than 58,000 names. They are not just names but someone's loved one, our country's best, our sacrifice. Let's never say they died in vain. Let's be proud of our National Guards, and the job they are doing for all of us.

Let's pray that the shame this country has felt, and should feel, of the insensitive, unemphatic, unfair treatment of the Vietnam Vets homecoming will never take place again. For those who came home the memories, and nightmares live on. Many suffer from Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. Their sacrifice was great.

As I write I hear hell-copters overhead. They are my sign of safety, security, and freedom. No more old complaints. I'm proud to be an American, and proud of our National Guards. For those who never said it, or those who didn't know how, I say from the bottom of my heart and soul, welcome home, we missed you, good to have you back. Please accept our apology for coming so late for we know the sacrifice was great. I've been to the wall and my life will never be the same.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

Tragic times produce many heroic deeds. Such was the case in the influenza epidemic that struck this country in 1918-1919. In Crawford County it killed over sixty people. In Grayling emergency hospitals were set up in schools and other public buildings. The disease struck in the spring of 1918 when about fourteen people died. The summer months brought a respite from the horror of the disease. Then in the winter of 1919 it struck with a vengeance. Healthy people volunteered to help care for the sick knowing they were exposing themselves to its dangers. Men with teams and sleighs patrolled the streets shouting BRING OUT YOUR DEAD. The dead were buried as quickly as possible without funeral services. Among those who volunteered to care for the sick was the daughter of the Seeley Wakeley's. The nineteen year old Florence helped care for sick until the disease killed her. What greater gift than to lay down your life in the service of others. I hope her grave is well marked and her gift is properly acknowledged.

In the old days people lived in mortal fear of diseases reaching epidemic stage. If a lumberjack came down with a communicable disease he was quickly shipped off to the Pest House. There they received minimal care and lived or died as the case might be. The Frederic Pest House was located east of Frederic a little north of 612.

The townships at that time had the office of Health Officer who was responsible for enforcing the Quarantine laws. It used to be if you missed a day or two of school the Health Officer was at your house to check you over. If he found you had a communicable disease he posted a quarantine sign by the door. That sign meant no one was to enter or leave the house until he removed the sign. It seemed we spent a lot of time under quarantine. Abbie Madill was the last Health Officer in Frederic Township.

In 1949 we had a Rabies epidemic in Crawford County. Someone dropped off a dog in Frederic that had rabies and soon most of the dogs in the area had it. We were lucky in the fact that it was a strain of rabies that paralyzed the lower jaw. I don't recall anyone being bitten but there may have been. I spent a day alone up on our old farm with our dog that had it. I didn't want to kill him because he was such a good cow dog. He was better than an extra man when it came to working cattle. I spent that day with a pitchfork and rifle close at hand. He didn't turn on me but I still shake when I remember trying still shake when I remember tying him up that day. Dad had to kill him the next morning, his blood was just about black from the high fever. Frederic township was placed under quarantine until it died out.

North case brings out philosophers

AS THAT GREAT philosopher Yogi Berra has said: "It ain't over til it's over."

That applies to the celebrated case of Oliver North. There's lots more coming.

Col. North was found guilty of three counts; as Dan Rather said, he's a convicted felon.

However, he also was found innocent on nine counts; in philosopher Berra's field of baseball, nine out of 12 is a very impressive average.

The players in the North saga apparently view the results the same way. Col. North lost yet he won.

"The principal that no man is above the law has been vindicated," intoned Prosecutor John Keker.

On the other hand, reasoned North backer U.S. Rep. Dana Rohrabacher, the jury found Col. North guilty "of only cutting corners and not breaking the law." That may be reaching for straws, but that's the way a lot of North backers feel.

philosopher, the late Clara Peller (of hamburger fame): Where's the dough?

NORTH SUPPORTERS will never be convinced that he got a square deal in the courts; they will never be convinced he did anything he should not have done.

North detractors will never be convinced the other way, either.

It's one of those cases where nobody wins, yet nobody wins, where everyone loses, yet nobody loses.

But with the Poindexter trial and the North appeal coming up, and with the continuing possibility that either President Reagan or President Bush -- or both -- will somehow be more intimately implicated, the saga continues.

Hang on to your seat belts, folks; I've got the feeling you ain't seen nothing yet and that promise first came from an old-time philosopher, too.

WHO'S RUNNING THINGS -- It was cold and cloudy when 8,000 University of Michigan seniors were scheduled to receive degrees during outdoor commencement ceremonies.

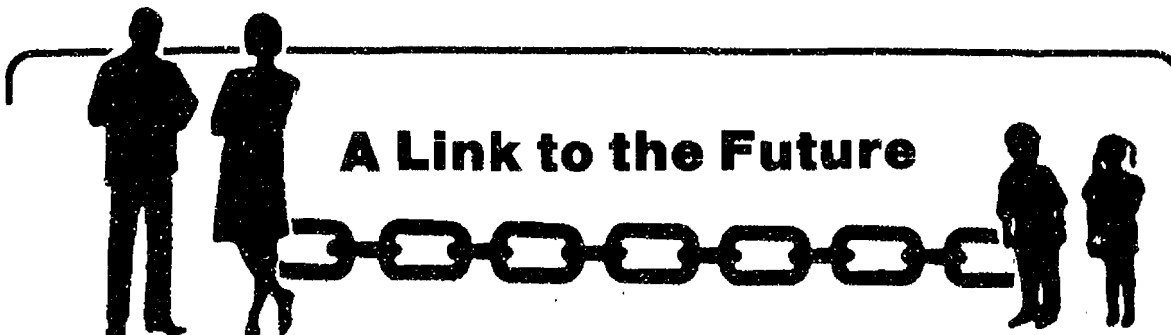

Officials considered moving the program indoors due to the threatening weather, but President James Duderstadt would have none of that. Stay outdoors, the prexy ruled.

"If it were 10 a.m. and we were going to tee it up against Notre Dame, would we move it in-side?" the president asked.

"If we can tolerate a little discomfort for Bo and the boys, certainly we can stand some for our graduates."

The reference, of course, is to football coach Bo Schembechler, who doubles as athletic director and runs the sports show with an iron fist at U of M.

The Schembechler influence seems rather pervasive around the campus. It makes you wonder just who is running things down in Ann Arbor anyway.

Proud to have Band Students Representing Our Community

Dear Editor:

We, the parents of a Grayling Middle School Band Student, want to express our appreciation to Mr. Dennis Ormsbee and each of the members of the Band. It is a treat to watch and listen to them perform. But to attend a District Festival and come home with all I's and go onto State Festivals is awe inspiring and worth taking this time to let the community know.

Our children are very well behaved, well groomed and dressed appropriately. These band students are proud to be from Grayling and they do a fine job of representing this community. We can all be proud of this group of fine artists.

While at State Festivals in Alpena, the band with Mr. Ormsbee directing, had to play three pieces in front of a panel of judges. When our children entered and exited the Performance room, they received a standing ovation from the largest group of Grayling supporters yet to attend these events. It was overwhelming! Then, onto the Sight Reading room where it was quiet and tense, but the students seemed relaxed, confident and very assured with the direction and calmness from Mr. Ormsbee.

Forty five minutes later, with everyone in anticipation, scores were posted on a large board for everyone to see: 1, 1, 1, 1, total 4's! The place lit up like you would never believe. Parents, our children and students from other schools - cheering, screaming, laughing, crying, hugging. They were so joyful after all the months of preparation, readiness and commitment. To all of these children and especially Mr. Ormsbee, a job well done!

It was such a great feeling and privilege to go and be a part of this fine band as both a chaperone and part of the audience. Our band students are mighty fine musicians with lots of dedication and talent. As Mr. Ormsbee says, you "GOT-TAWANNA" and the band students certainly showed that was the case with each of them. The band has the right to be proud of themselves and boast a little, as this has been an occasion to last forever.

Thank you dearly for the beautiful memories!! Barbara Hinderleider

SQUINTERS HAVE PROBLEMS
QUESTION: Lately I've been noticing that my son squints a lot when he looks at things. Does this mean he may need glasses?

ANSWER: People who squint a lot probably need glasses. This is often a sign of nearsightedness. Near-sighted people who don't have glasses will squint to sharpen their focus when looking at something. This may solve the problem temporarily, but it can also cause eye-strain and headaches. And it doesn't do much for your personal appearance to have to squint when someone shows you something. Some adolescents tend to squint when they're growing up until they or their parents realize that they are nearsighted and need help. The problem may be in one eye or in both eyes. Only an eye examination will tell.

Lumber and Building Supply

A Complete Lumber, Millwork & Hardware Co.

Call the Lumber Number - 348-2861

M-72 West — Hours 8 - 5 Mon.-Fri. — Sat. 8 - 1 p.m.

Readers want to know more about the weekly "Fame & Fortune" game show.

Q. How are contestants drawn?
A. Each week the bureau receives approximately 40,000-45,000 TV entries. From among these, 250 are randomly drawn to be included in the drum you see on the Fame & Fortune show. At the end of each program, the six contestants for the next week's show are drawn from among those 250 entries.

Q. How are home partners selected to be paired with contestants?
A. After the on-air drawing of six contestants for the following week's show, six more entries are drawn to become home partners. They are paired with contestants in the order drawn.

Q. Are home partners notified in advance?

A. No, this is another surprise element of the show designed to heighten interest. Any player submitting a TV entry may hear his or her name announced as a home partner at the beginning of the show.

Q. How much do home partners win?
A. Each week, the home partner lucky enough to be paired with the contestant winning the $50,000 top prize gets a $500 award.

Q. Are entries not drawn as contestants or home partners held for later drawings?

A. No. After each week's drawings are completed, those entries are destroyed. A fresh batch of entries for the next show include all those received the next week.

Q. How much has been won on the "Fame & Fortune" game show?

A. Through the 14th show on April 29, the total value of prizes won was $1,030,231. In addition to the 14 awards of $50,000 each, prizes included 15 new automobiles, three computer packages, one stereo package, and 51 other cash awards. Home viewers won another $7,000.

Q. What else does a contestant do on the day of the show?

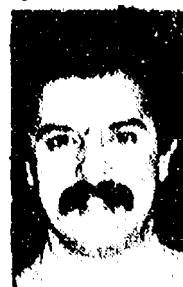

A. All contestants enjoy a full day of stardom! After a get-acquainted continental breakfast at Detroit's Omni International Hotel, they are driven by VIP Limousine Service to the studios of WDIV-TV for a tour and taping of individual introductions. Then they are guests of honor at a special luncheon in The Whitney Restaurant. Returning by limo to the studio, they are briefed on all elements of the show by a Lottery representative. A professional make-up session and a chance to meet the show hosts Chuck Gaidien and Diane Sarnecky is next. Then contestants are greeted by the live audience, and pose for a souvenir photograph on the set before starting the game. After award of prizes, they return to the hotel for an overnight stay as guests of the Lottery.

For submitting the first question leading to this column, James Persons of Livonia will receive 50 "Fame & Fortune" tickets. Note: When duplicate questions are received, that with the earliest date stamp upon arrival at Lottery Central wins. In case of a tie, the winner is selected by random drawing.

If you have a question not yet covered in these monthly columns, send it to: "Winners Circle," Michigan Lottery, P.O. Box 30077, Lansing, MI 48909.

SPORTS FANS!

I Bet You Didn't Know

Brought To You By Mike Fortino Sales Representative

Many times truth is stranger than fiction... Here's an example from those 2 great baseball stars, Mickey Mantle and Willie Mays... Did you ever realize how many similarities exist between these 2 men? ...Both were born in 1931 ...Both came to the major leagues for the first time in the same year, 1951... Both came up with a team from New York... Both became stars as centerfielders... And both Mays and Mantle played in over 2,000 games and finished with lifetime batting averages just 4 points apart... Mays lifetime average was .302 and Mantle's was .298.

Here's an oddity... Hank Aaron, who wore uniform number 44, hit exactly 44 home runs 4 times in his career... Aaron hit 44 homers in 1957, 1963, 1966 and 1969.

Amazingly, women's tennis champion Helen Wills Moody and American Davis Cupper Howard Kinsey, on Jan. 7, 1936, hit the ball back and forth to each other a record 2,001 consecutive times without a miss! ...That's officially the longest continuous playing in tennis history.

I bet you didn't know... See Mike Fortino at Scheer Motors for your new car or truck!

other attractive features which can be examined at the Open House.

The 1987-88 Building Trades class included: Mike Alma, Grant Armstrong, Charles Baker, Andrew Barber, Chris Edinger, Jerry Gauthier, Todd Hatfield, Michelle Hatley, Mark McKee, Vivian Mancini, Ron Melhorn, Dennis O'Toole, Jeff Reichelderfer, Jason Small and Chris Whaley.

This year's roster includes: Rusty Argue, Richard Barkway, Kevin Bickford, Jamie Brackenbury, Rick Brown, Henry Cousins, Jeff Edinger, Scott Englund, Bill Franks, John Gay, Frank Hartwick, Brian Kernstock, Vivian Mancini, Bill Martin, Brian Palmer, Tim Pernie, Todd VanDeVen, Jerry Whaley and Jason Wright.

Wolohan Lumber Co. Earns National Award

Wolohan Lumber Co., a leading building supply home center operation headquartered in Saginaw, has been honored as the 1989 "Retailer of the Year" by the editors of Building Supply Home Centers magazine. Wolohan Lumber Co. earned the distinction in the category of chains with more than $200 million retail sales.

Among the criteria leading to the selection of Wolohan Lumber was the retailer's innovative merchandising, marketing, and management.

Founded in 1964 with three Michigan lumberyards, this Midwest giant has grown to be one of the premier retailers in the United States. The company pioneered several innovations in building-supply retailing, including the cash and carry concept, and Wolohan Lumber has long been a leader in dual-yard selling, catering to both professional builders and the consumer at the same site. A decade ago, the firm began a concerted effort to attract more business from the D-I-Y homeowner, in the process undergoing fundamental changes in the stores, methods of operation, and the corporate culture and philosophy.

In repositioning the chain to insulate it from the sometimes-severe swings in the cyclical home-building business, Wolohan executives have compiled one of the strongest growth records in the industry. In the process, it has grown from 34 to 45 stores in six midwestern states.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

The Gospel of John

Part #78
Provisions of God's Peace

As Jesus Christ faced death on the cruel cross, He promised His disciples something the world cannot give - the peace of God. "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." (John 14:27). Jesus Christ gives us the serenity of perfect peace. First, He has made peace through the blood of His cross to reconcile us to God. (Col. 1:20). Through faith in His sacrifice for our sins, we have peace with God. (Rom. 5:1). Second, we have the peace of God in our hearts and minds. (Phil. 4:7; Col. 3:15). Peace is a part of the fruit of the Holy Spirit in our lives. (Gal. 5:22).

Part of this peace and serenity includes rejoicing. "Ye have heard how I said unto you, I go away, and come again unto you. If ye loved me, ye would rejoice, because I said, I go unto the Father: for my Father is greater than I." (John 14:28). While Jesus Christ has declared His equality with the Father in the trinity, (John 5:18; 10:30), His ascension back to the father would end His voluntary humility as a servant to provide for our salvation. How we should rejoice with Him as He is again sitting on the throne with God the father.

God's peace brings security because we can believe and trust the words of Jesus Christ. And now I have told you before it come to pass, that, when it is come to pass, ye might believe." (John 14:29). The fulfilled prophecy of Jesus Christ proves Him to be God, and gives us perfect peace and security to rest our weary souls upon Him for all time and eternity.

God's peace brings separation from the flesh, the Devil and the world. "Hereafter I will not talk much with you: for the prince of this world cometh, and hath nothing in me. But that the world may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me commandment, even so I do. Arise, let us go hence." (John 14:30, 31). Jesus Christ would soon be separated from all flesh physically. He was separated from the Devil because of His sinlessness. (2 Cor. 5:21; Heb. 7:26; 1 Pet. 1:19; 1 Pet. 2:22; and 1 John 3:5). He was separated from the world by His perfect obedience to the Father. (Heb. 10:7, 9). He gave us a perfect example of how we are to love and obey God. Isaiah told us how to live this kind of life centuries ago. "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee." (Isaiah 26:3). Do you know God's peace today?

Looking To The Future

The future belongs to those who are prepared. More and more, ours is becoming a competitive society. Our young people realize that they must be well equipped to meet tomorrow's social and economic demands.

Education is vastly important, yet it will not meet every need. Many of the social and economic pressures can be met adequately only if one is equipped with spiritual stamina and stability. Something more is required than a diploma signifying academic learning.

God's House is dedicated to the task of strengthening us spiritually. Through the opportunities of worship and study in your local church or synagogue, you can be better prepared to meet the future. Why not attend this week?

Doodles from the Tall Timber

By Wendell L. Hoover
Hartwick Pines Interpreter

Despite the rather cool temperatures this last weekend, I spent a great deal of time outdoors and despite those temperatures nature continues to do its spring thing. Marsh-marigolds, Arbutus, Yellow Adders Tongue and Trillium were either in bloom or nearly ready to do so.

Deer, bear and turkeys were obvious and the coyotes provided an evening serenade. All in all it was an enjoyable excursion into a realm where nature was supreme. The only mushroom I saw was what is referred to by many as the beefsteak. As I have stated before, the Helvella esculenta is of very questionable edibility. You may have eaten it many times and suffered no ill effects, but body chemistry does change and with it the tolerance for the toxins the mushroom contains. Stated simply, this mushroom is clearly poisonous to some people and not to others. I personally know of two individuals who ate them for years without any ill effects only to become so extremely ill from eating the beefsteak mushroom they had to be hospitalized.

With any mushroom (even the commercial varieties) it pays to eat only small amounts along with other foods, and even then not very often. Keep in mind that while much is being done in the medical sciences, there is no antidote for food poisoning.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

One of the great mysteries of natural science concerns the migration of birds. For thousands of years, man has observed that many species of birds arrive and depart an area at more or less regular intervals. Early man no doubt was aware of the ramifications of these happenings because they signaled to him a change in season and associated availability of a food source.

Much investigative work has been done trying to unravel the secrets of bird migration and how birds find their way from summer to winter ranges. How does a young bird know when to leave its place of birth and how does it know how to get somewhere it has never been before? The quest for the answers to these questions has stimulated hundreds of experiments that have produced no satisfactory solutions.

In many cases photoperiodism, or biological response to the length of daylight, seems to be a key factor in prompting migration. Increased daylight stimulates the pituitary gland which in turn causes increased activity of the gonads. Weather conditions such as temperature, barometric pressure and the wind also seem to effect migration time.

The question of how birds navigate from one place to another (Northern Michigan to the Bahamas in the case of the Kirtland's Warbler and the Arctic to the Antarctic with some terns) has never been satisfactorily answered. Navigation by the stars, the sun, the moon and by landmarks has been suggested, but none have been proven to be totally correct. After all, birds migrate on heavy overcast days when visible clues are not available. Probably there is a combination of things used by birds to find their way. One of the more recent theories involves major land forms such as large rivers and mountain ranges, and the earth's magnetic field in conjunction with instinct.

Whatever the mechanism of migration, this is the time of year to enjoy the results. It seems as if new species arrive each day. When you see a hummingbird, marvel at the process that brought it to you from South America.

Verse or Worse

By Joseph D. Murphy

Grandma's Rocking Chair

*It's just a plain old wooden rocker,
Looks kind of funny sitting there,
But I never will remove it,
Because it's Grandma's old rocking chair.*

*When it was new it rocked her baby,
Who grew up to be my Dad,
I can picture him rocking in it,
When he was just a little lad.*

*Maybe, it was his covered wagon
Surrounded by Indians on the plain.
Perhaps, it was a pirate ship Sailing on the Spanish Main.*

*It was anything his young mind dreamed,
Took him wherever his dreams might be,
When I came along to use it,
It was my trusty Model "T".*

*Sometimes it was the airplane
That shot the Red Baron down.
At other times a roaring tank
Running the Kaiser to the ground.*

*When my son's time came to use it,
It was a bomber flying high,
He was flying over the enemy
Dropping destruction from the sky.
But it quickly changed back to a pirate ship,
If that was on his mind,
Or carried him west across the prairie,
On the old trails left behind.*

*His son now has the seat of honor,
To make all of his dreams work.
It becomes the starship "Enterprise"
And he is "Captain Kirk".*

*But Grandma always had her time there,
At the closing of the day,
To nod and dream her special dreams,
Of times so far away.*

*Then one day as she was rocking,
Grandma was no longer there,
She had rocked her way to the promised land,
In that same old rocking chair.*

Recipes

By Phyllis Brummer

From the new cookbook "Eat This...It'll Make You Feel Better!" by Dom DeLuise, here are two especially good recipes.

Cheese and Onion Bread

1 1/2 c. chopped onion
2 tbsp. butter
1 egg
1/2 c. sour cream
pepper
2 c. flour
1 (tbsp. baking powder
1/4 c. butter
1 c. shredded cheddar cheese
1/2 c. milk
3 tbsp. fresh minced parsley

Saute onion in butter until tender. Remove to bowl and add egg, sour cream and pepper to taste. Combine flour and baking powder and cut in butter until crumbly and fine. Stir in half the cheese; add milk. Pat dough into buttered 9" square pan. Spread sour cream mixture on top. Sprinkle with remaining cheese and parsley. Bake at 425° for 25 minutes. Cut into squares and serve warm.

Sister Anne's Orange Juice Cookies

1/2 c. sugar
1 1/2 sticks margarine
3 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1/4 c. orange juice
3 c. flour
3 tsp. baking powder

Blend first 5 ingredients in blender and pour into a bowl. Add flour and baking powder and knead very thoroughly. Batter must not be sticky; more flour may be required.

Take a walnut-size piece of dough and roll between hands to form a long stick. You may leave in this shape or bring ends together to form doughnut, or press into flat cookie shapes. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and let stand 10 minutes. Bake 15-17 minutes at 350° or until lightly brown. While baking, prepare the icing: 1/2 lb. confectioners' sugar 1/2 c. orange juice 1/2 tsp. vanilla

Blend all ingredients until the consistency of heavy syrup. Add more orange juice if necessary. When cookies are done, dip each hot cookie into the icing, which will form a glaze over the cookies. Let cool until icing dries.

Make these for your kids to have for breakfast or a snack - they'll love them!

Elephant Ears

2 eggs, beaten
2 tbsp. melted butter
1 c. sugar
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking soda
1 1/2 c. buttermilk
1/4 t. baking powder
4 c. flour

Mix in order given (dissolve baking soda in buttermilk) and knead a little. Roll out on well-greased board into very thin 4-5 inch rounds. Drop into 375° hot oil for 10-15 seconds on each side. Drain on paper towels. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon (1/2 tsp. cinnamon to 1 c. sugar), or brush with warm honey. If using powdered buttermilk, substitute water for the buttermilk and combine the dry buttermilk with the flour. Elephant Ears will keep indefinitely.

Strolling Around Town

By Fay Bovee

Strolling around downtown is hazardous to one's shoes, but it will be nice when it's finished.

Besides activity on Michigan Avenue, there is a new building being constructed on Norway Street between the Icehouse and the Depot Museum. The trapper's cabin at the Museum has a new roof, some new chinking on the logs and the trappers are also doing some work inside. The Museum will be open Memorial Day weekend.

The entrances to the two cemeteries have

Hartwick Pines CCC Camp 1st for Honor

Gordon Guyer

Members from Michigan's four Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) chapters will be gathering at Hartwick Pines State Park next Wednesday, May 24, at 2:00 p.m. to commemorate the placement of the first CCC historical sign.

Rev. William Fraser, chairman of the Historic Sign Placement Program, explained that the Hartwick Pines State Park sign which identifies the Pines as a CCC Camp is only one of 19 signs to be distributed at Wednesday's ceremony to volunteers, who will place the signs at other CCC Camp locations in the state. He said that the Historic Sign Placement Program has identified 71 CCC Camps in Michigan and will strive to place signs at every site.

Representatives from each CCC chapter will speak about "What the CCC Meant to Me." Representatives of the Vanderbilt Michigan Civilian Conservation Corps (MCCC) will speak about "What the CCC Means to Me."

The Civilian Conservation Corps were created by President Franklin D. Roosevelt during the depression of the 1930's as a means of providing jobs to out-of-work men. Clothing, room and board were provided to the men on the condition that CCC'ers sent at least $22.00 of his $30.00 per month income to his family.

CCC Camp SP-674 at Hartwick Pines was started in 1933 and, according to Wendell Hoover, Park Interpreter, was one of the longer lived camps, lasting until 1941. CCC Camp SP-674 held 200 men. When the camp first began, the men lived in tents, until barrack-type buildings could be constructed.

Roads, bridges, footpaths and firebrakes were all constructed by workers from CCC Camp SP-674. They were also responsible for planting several thousand acres of trees at the park. He said that the last men assigned to CCC Camp SP-8 were veterans of World War I.

"Many of the local boys worked here," said Hoover.

Today the MCCC employs and trains young men from age 18 to 25. The program emphasizes self-confidence and self-esteem, and encourages graduates of the program to return to the job market. MCCC records indicate that 64 percent of its graduates do just that. As of August of 1988, over 4,000 men were employed in the program.

Other dignitaries at the ceremony will include Frank Russwick, Jr., the director of the present MCCC program, and Dr. Gordon Guyer, Vice President for Governmental Affairs at Michigan State University, and former Director of the Department of Natural Resources.

Pipeline right-of-ways are popular areas for motorcycles, snowmobiles, three-wheelers and other off-road vehicles. They are also popular for skiing, horseback riding and other off-the-road activities.

You should know that the cleared lane over a pipeline belongs to the owner of the land.

The landowner has granted an easement permitting the line to be built and maintained, but the strip remains private property. Persons wishing to use pipeline right-of-ways must first obtain the landowner's permission.

Call it courtesy, but it's also the law.

City Police To Enforce Handicap Parking Law

By Irene Pettyjohn

Non-handicapped people who park in handicap parking spaces "just to run into the market for a gallon of milk", may find themselves paying in excess of $100 for that gallon of milk.

Officers of the Grayling City Police Department have begun enforcing the city's "Handicapper's Parking Ordinance" that has been in effect since December 1, 1988.

Individuals parking a vehicle in any parking space reserved for handicapped persons without displaying a Certificate of Identification or a special license plate issued by the Secretary of State will have to pay a civil fine of up to $100 and court costs.

Chief of Police Peter Stephan said that before the ordinance was adopted, police officers did not have any authority to cite misuse of handicap parking facilities because most off-street parking lots are located on private land. Even now, he said that enforcement of the ordinance is a problem because the Grayling Police Department does not have an individual responsible for patrolling the city's parking lots. He said that City officers will have to include routine parking lot checks in addition to their regular duties.

The Grayling Police Department will be receiving violation notification from officers checking parking areas, and from public complaints.

Stephan said that whenever possible warnings will be issued by officers (If the driver of the vehicle is present and is not recognized as a repeat offender), but that citations will be issued to unoccupied vehicles. If a person is a repeat offender, that information will be presented to the court, and Stephan said that he believes the court would then assign a more severe fine.

"The idea is not to issue citations," Stephan said, "but rather to enforce adherence to the purpose of handicap parking."

Unauthorized use of a handicap certificate or license plate, such as using a handicap parking space when the handicapped individual is not in the vehicle, is a misdemeanor, explained Stephan, and is punishable by a fine of up to $100 and 90 days in jail. He also stated that misuse of a handicap permit can mean the immediate confiscation of the permit by an officer, and possibly the permanent confiscation by the Secretary of State.

Michigan law requires that handicap certificates must be displayed in the lower left corner of the windshield.

To obtain a temporary or permanent handicap permit, individuals should consult their doctor, or contact their nearest Secretary of State office.

Fish Hatchery Ready To Open 7th Season

Another spring and summer season is upon us. Mother Nature provides the scene and color for the beauties of nature to bloom and make it possible for us to enjoy them in their fullest. We are about to open the trout ponds at the former Grayling Fish Hatchery for the seventh season. The past six summers have been very successful as a tourist attraction for the traveling public and the local people.

Nearly forty thousand people have entered the pond area each of the past three years to look at the fish and feed them pellets of prepared fish food which may be purchased very reasonably. This is one of the ways that makes it possible for people to see and enjoy this station once more.

Having spent a life time in the hatchery business of fish propagation and distribution, it is wonderful to see people and especially the children as they rush from one pond of fish to another shouting for someone to come and see the big ones, or watch the smaller fish eat. This is strictly a non-profit venture sponsored by the Crawford County Commissioners.

The traveling public who have visited the trout ponds these last three years have come from many of our southern states as well as from the east. Many have told us they visited the hatchery years ago when they were children and now they are bringing their grandchildren.

We extend an invitation to everyone to come and visit the trout ponds this summer.

County Aims To Make 'DENT' Against Drugs

By Irene Pettyjohn

Bright red and orange collection canisters will soon be showing up at checkout counters throughout Crawford County. The dollars or change dropped in these banks will be used to finance the county's latest effort to fight the use and trafficking of illegal drugs.

The DENT Program (Drug Enforcement Narcotics Team) is sponsored by the Crawford County Sheriff Department, and is intended to be the weapon in the department's war against illegal drugs. Funds raised by the canisters, and contributions from community organizations and private individuals will be used to identify and eliminate illegal drug trafficking, and drug related crimes here.

Similar programs have been operated in Berrien and Tuscola Counties. The Berrien County program, called Push A Pusher (Out of Berrien County), was credited with the arrests of more than 400 drug users and traffickers in less than two years.

Sgt. Fred LaPratt, of the Vassar Police Dept., and founder of the Tuscola County ENACT Program, at a recent meeting with Sheriff Harold Hatfield and Deputy Dave Lovely, who will head-up the DENT Program, said that as counties around Crawford County begin to crack down on their drug problems and force drug dealers out, that surrounding counties will find more and more deals taking place in their communities.

Sheriff Hatfield said that it is always difficult to approach the various service organizations asking for money, but he said that until someone comes up with alternative funding, this program has proven itself to be an effective way to raise funds not provided in the county budget.

"Small drug problems, such as the DENT Program, when occurring throughout the state, will have an effective impact on the drug problem," said Hatfield.

"Crawford County is a growing community," said Hatfield, "and progress and growth also brings problems."

Deputy Lovely said that even though the DENT Program will be specifically targeted at the county's drug problem and will result in drug related arrests, it will also provide valuable leads regarding other crimes that occur in the area, such as breaking and enterings.

The Sheriff Department anticipates that the DENT Program will raise between $6,000 and $10,000 annually.

The canisters for the program have been designed, made and donated by CSI Clio Systems, Inc. of Grayling and the printing was provided by Golden Rule Printing.

Anyone wishing to donate to the DENT Program may send their contributions to the Crawford County Sheriff Dept., c/o DENT Program.
